

PREFACE

The faculty and staff of the Southeastern Louisiana University College of Education and Human Development are committed to the following: (1) the provision of undergraduate and graduate programs for professional teachers, administrators, and school-service personnel; (2) cooperation with local schools and school systems to provide evaluative and improvement services; (3) the provision of undergraduate programs in special areas not requiring a teaching certificate such as social work, fashion merchandising and family and consumer science; and (4) the promotion and conduct of research designed both to improve local educational activity and to advance educational theory and practice.

The College of Education and Human Development is approved by the Louisiana Department of Education for teacher certification programs and is accredited by both the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. The College is a member of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. The college's program in Social Work is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. The college's program in Family and Consumer Science is accredited by the American Association of Family Education programs are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs. It is the purpose of this College to provide programs of excellence in teacher education and specialty areas while helping students realize and maintain their self-esteem and confidence in their abilities.

This Handbook is presented to all faculty and staff in the College in the hope that it will be helpful to them and their students.

Diane D. Allen, Dean
College of Education and Human Development

Back to the Table of Contents