

M.S. in Health and Kinesiology Southeastern Louisiana University

A Sample of Alumni and Career Paths

Students pursue the M.S. in Health and Kinesiology at SLU for many reasons, which include those related to advancing career goals. A master's degree increases opportunities for job pursuits in our fields, improves candidacy for professional programs in healthcare (e.g., physical therapy), and may also lead to further advanced study in health/kinesiology/sport management areas. Below is a small sample of some alumni of our master's degree and their career achievements soon after graduation.
